WELCOME

Welcome to the newly restored Stanley Mosk Library and Courts Building

The completion of the restoration of the Stanley Mosk Library and Courts Building is an event to be celebrated by all Californians. The building is one of the nation's great government buildings befitting the state capital of the most populous state in the Union. Its classic granite and terra cotta façade, stately vestibule, magnificent murals and decorative ceilings, marble floors and columns, gum paneling, and bronze chandeliers and light fixtures make this a memorable temple of knowledge and justice.

The building was restored and improved with sensitivity to the history of the building and its splendid features. Our thanks to the Department of General Services who oversaw the renovation and the many contractors who made it happen.
