

Highlights

Population by Age

Population Growth: The population in the City of San Bernardino grew by 13% over the past decade to 210,000. This growth rate is slightly higher than the state’s (10%) but lower than that of San Bernardino County as a whole (19%). Despite the overall growth, a sharp decline occurred in the white, non-Hispanic population (-26%).

Diversity: This area became majority Hispanic between 2000 and 2010, with the Hispanic share of the population increasing from 48% to 60%. The white, non-Hispanic share decreased from 29% to 19%, and the black share from 16% to 14% of total.

Age Structure: San Bernardino is much younger than the state, with a median age of 29, compared with 35 for California, and the age structure did not change substantially over the past decade. In contrast with statewide aging trends, the older population remained at 8% of the total, while the number of young people grew by 6%. This young age group is 71% Hispanic, 14% black, and 10% white, non-Hispanic. Blacks, with a median age of 28, and Hispanics, with a median age of 24, are younger in this area than statewide.

Households: This area has a large portion of single-parent households—18% of total households here, compared with 10% statewide. Also, 14% of households are linguistically isolated, meaning that no one living in these households age 14 and over speaks English at least “very well.”

Education: Educational attainment is lower in San Bernardino for all racial and ethnic groups than in California overall. Just 12% of adults have earned a Bachelor’s degree or higher, compared with 30% of adults statewide, and 33% have not completed high school, compared with 20% statewide.

Income: Median household income is $39,000, just 65% of the California median of $60,000. The unemployment rate was 6% in 2006 but increased to 19% in June 2011. In this area, 26% of people have incomes below the federal poverty level, as do 45% of female-headed families with children and no husband present.

This demographic profile is part of a series of library jurisdiction profiles prepared for the California State Library by the Stanford Center on Longevity.
